Last Sunday was such a beautiful spring day, five couples took the opportunity to take a walk through the woods, enjoying the pleasant day and admiring nature's newly sprouted beauty. The forest was alive with wildlife, some recently emerged from their snug winter burrows, others returning from their long winter migration. They were pleased to see unusual wildlife during their walk, each couple spotting both an animal and a bird not seen as commonly as doves or squirrels. Determine the full name of each couple and the type of animal and bird that each couple saw.

1. Simon, who wasn't married to Olivia, saw a fox. The couple that saw the beaver also saw wild turkeys.
2. Patricia Carver didn't see the pheasant. Duncan didn't see the hawk. The Newtons saw a coyote. Ralph's last name wasn't Steward.
3. The Porters didn't see the swans. Simon wasn't married to Sandra and his last name wasn't Newton. The Brokers spotted a bobcat.
4. The couple who saw the coyote didn't see the swan. Warren, whose last name wasn't Broker, didn't see the deer. Sandra saw the mallards.
5. Howard and his wife Joanna didn't see the wild turkeys. Ralph, whose last name wasn't Newton, saw the pheasant but not the deer.
6. Marjorie Steward didn't see the swans. Duncan Porter didn't see the beaver.
